Investor Opportunity

Why Now?

With over 1.1 billion women expected to be in menopause by early 2025*, and a cost to the U.S. economy of over $26B — menopause is shaking off its silent past and stepping into the spotlight.

The global menopause market is expected to reach $24.4B by 2030, registering a CAGR of 5.37% from 2024 to 2030, driven by factors such as increasing awareness regarding menopause-associated health aspects and high adoption of women's health apps.

The Menopause Effect

45%

of women don't know the difference between perimenopause and menopause prior to experiencing symptoms.

44%

of women in menopause say that it significantly affects their mood, mental health, and ability to function day to day.

73%

of divorced women in menopause believe that menopause contributed to the breakdown of their marriage.

The Workplace Impact

64%

Percentage of women who want menopause-specific benefits, yet only 14% believe their employer recognizes the need for them.

$26 Billion

Annual economic burden from menopause-related costs faced by businesses, as reported by the Mayo Clinic.

2 out 5

Women who have considered quitting their jobs due to menopause.

The Problem

1

Stigma around menopause leads to feelings of isolation.

2

Menopause impacts daily activities and emotional health.

3

Limited, often misleading resources result in confusion and misinformed choices.

4

Many women are undiagnosed or misdiagnosed, missing out on effective treatments.

5

Menopause symptoms disrupt work performance.

6

Menopause affects the whole family, often leading to disruptions within household dynamics.

We imagine a world where millions of women, along with their partners and employers, are fully supported and empowered throughout the menopause years, turning this period of transition and grief into an opportunity for strength and personal growth.
